INFLATION BAN MADE PART OF AID TO EUROPE

Truman May Ask Authority To Help Fight Inflation in Other Countries.

BULLETIN

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, Nov. 15—President Truman plans to lay the long range Marshall plan for European recovery before the special session of congress starting Monday, even though action may be delayed until the regular January meeting.

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, Nov. 15—President Truman may ask congress Monday for authority to help other countries fight inflation as part of the general plan for aiding Europe.

White House experts worked against time to prepare an outline which some of the President's associates said might include a rough draft of the long-range Marshall plan, as well as a proposal for stop-gap help for Italy, France and Austria.

They said Mr. Truman, in his personal message to the special session which opens at noon Monday, also is prepared to suggest action to halt the rising cost of living at home.

Unless changes are made in the final draft, competent officials said, the President will suggest to congress that he be permitted to name a board to consider ways of halting the currency inflation abroad which has saddled the economy of most European countries with blackmarkets.

Under the $597,000,000 emergency aid bill brought to congress by Secretary of State Marshall, the European nations would be required to pull some of their own money out of circulation in amounts equal to the value of the relief they receive.

Vandenberg Tells Purpose

Chairman Vandenberg (R-Mich) of the senate foreign relations committee indicated the idea is to take money out of the hands of persons who might raise prices by bidding against each other for the supplies.

He said he understands the provision applies to outright American gifts as well as loans.

To fight inflation in this country, the President was said to be considering these requests:

▸Wider allocation powers—under which the government controls distribution of scarce items. Applied to wheat, this would enable government agencies to say how much would go to millers, how much to distillers, and how much to other users.

▸Restored controls over installment buying. These controls were taken from the President at the last session of congress.

Senator Taft (R-Ohio) has said that both of those matters—as well as rent and export controls and possible increases in commodity exchange margins—will be studied by his senate-house economic committee which begins action on the President's anti-inflation program next week.

Taft Approves Tax Plan

Taft told a news conference he agrees with the President that money for the proposed foreign relief program must be paid out of taxes.

But he said administration figures for the cost of the Marshall plan are too high. The United States can help foreign countries, Taft said, and still cut individual income taxes for 1948.

However, Senator Ball (R-Minn) said "gifts or loans to Europe on the scale being proposed will rule out any chance of a tax reduction."

Marshall told congress that adequate emergency and long-range aid would cost the United States about $7,000,000,000 in the next 15 months.

But the Ohio senator estimated that the $7,000,000,000 would be spent in one year, under the secretary of state's program.

"That's too much," he said.

Truman To Ask Control Over Steel

By The United Press

WASHINGTON, Nov. 15—President Truman will ask for power to control the use of steel and other critical materials when he addresses congress Monday, sources close to the White House predicted today.

A call for direct consumer rationing of food at this time is not expected. Neither will the President try to revive direct price control.

A request for emergency rationing power to use in event of a big short wheat crop next year is discussed by some of his advisers as a possibility.

With reports from his cabinet and his council of economic advisers piled in front of him, the President this weekend will whip into final form the speech he will deliver at 1:30 p. m., Monday. Mr. Truman will appear in person at the opening of the special "foreign aid and anti-inflation" session which he called.

COWS INVOLVED IN TWO AUTO ACCIDENTS

One Killed and Another Injured; Autos Damaged.

Six traffic accidents occurred near Marion yesterday and this morning, the state highway patrol reported.

Cars driven by Claude Pierce, 21, of near Edison, and Harvey Basey, 21, of near Marion, collided at 7:30 a. m. today on route 95 about one mile east of Marion. Basey's car had slowed down to make a turn, the patrol reports, when he was struck from behind by Pierce's car which couldn't stop on the wet road. Both cars were damaged.

When Ernest Carpenter, 69, of Akron, tried to brush a live coal from his pipe off his car seat at 3 p. m. yesterday, he ran off route 30-S about two miles west of Marion and knocked down a telephone pole, he reported to the state patrol. The car was damaged.

A tractor and semi-trailer outfit driven by Charles Tanner, 24, of Chicago, Ill., ran off highway 4 about two miles north of Bucyrus at 8:30 p. m. yesterday tearing up about ten rods of fence on the farm of M. E. Dininger of near Bucyrus. Front end of the truck was damaged.

Two cars and a cow were involved in an accident on route 37 about a mile south of LaRue at 2 p. m. yesterday. Henry Schuler, 30, of 370 Mary street, struck the cow while driving north and at the same time, Harry Carter, 36, of near Troy in trying to pass Schuler, hit his car.

The cow was killed, and the collision damaged the two cars. The cow was owned by A. W. Jones of near LaRue.

MANSFIELD AGENT FOR ERIE INJURED

J. W. Gilkison Suffers Amputation of Left Leg.

Special to The Star

MANSFIELD, Nov. 16—James W. Gilkison, Erie railroad freight and passenger agent here, suffered an accident which necessitated the amputation of his left leg when he was struck by a freight car in the Erie yards yesterday at 11 a. m.

His right leg was also badly mangled and may have to be amputated, it was reported today.

The accident occurred just east of the freight depot but details of the accident were unknown. Mr. Gilkison who is well known by Marion Erie employes was alone when he crossed the tracks in front of the loose car. He is in Mansfield General hospital in a serious condition, but conscious.

5 ESCAPE AS CAR HITS TRAIN

Auto Driven by Floyd Hawkins of Glad Street, Backs Into Moving Freight.

Five persons narrowly escaped injury Friday night when the car in which they were riding backed into an Erie freight train on Mill street between Main and State streets.

Driver of the car was Floyd Hawkins, 34, of 157 Glad street. Other occupants were Mrs. Wavel Hawkins, two Hawkins children, Dorothy age 12 and Doris, an infant, Grover Hawkins, all of the Glad street address, and Homer Unroe a neighbor, 165 Glad street.

The accident occurred shortly before 8:30 p. m. when Hawkins who was proceeding east on East Mill street backed up to make a turn south into the alley running south off Mill street the first east of North Main street.

According to the report made to police, Hawkins lost control of his car, backing off the street into the side of an eastbound freight train said to be traveling about 25 miles an hour. The left rear wheel of the car dropped off the pavement onto the roadbed.

The left side of the vehicle was demolished as approximately half the length of the train had smashed against it before the deisel locomotive was halted.

Patrolman M. E. Mitton who witnessed the accident came to the aid of the occupants of the rear seat of the car, trapped inside as the inside right rear door handle was broken, preventing their escape. The police officer wrenched the door open releasing the badly shaken up but uninjured occupants.

Hawkins told police he attempted to back up when he found Mill street blocked by a bus waiting on the train. The bus, police said, was blocking both eastbound and westbound traffic on Mill street. Driver of the bus was W. O. Auspach of Lima. The Erie train No. 701 was in charge of Conductor Schmidt.

Three Other Accidents

Three other accidents were reported to police Friday. The first occurred at 7:20 a. m. Friday at the intersection of South Main and East Church streets. The steering wheel of a car driven by James A. Edwards, 29, of 374 Commercial street broke as Edwards was making a left turn from South Main into Church street, the car going out of control and up over the sidewalk.

James R. Taylor, 27, of 294 Leader street reported to police that his car had been struck by an unidentified driver who failed to stop. The accident occurred in front of his home where he had parked his car.

At 10:55 p. m. Friday cars scraped fenders on West Church street near Harding High school when a car driven by Robert M. Ridgeway, 19, of LaRue and a second car, whose driver is unknown, collided as the former was pulling away from the curb. Slight damage to fenders resulted.

MEYERS TRIED FOR JOB, LOAN LAWYER SAYS

Los Angeles Attorney Testifies General Made Advances to Plane Builder.

BULLETIN

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, Nov. 15—Ira C. Eaker, retired deputy commander of the air forces, told investigating senators today that testimony by Bennett E. Meyers, retired major general, about buying aircraft company stock for Eaker was "either untrue or misleading."

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, Nov. 15—Neil R. McCarthy, Los Angeles attorney, told senators today that Maj. Gen. Bennett E. Meyers tried to obtain both a job and a loan from Howard Hughes while Meyers was a wartime air force procurement officer.

McCarthy, a former vice president of Hughes aircraft operations, repeated on the stand most of the testimony he had previously given the senate war investigating subcommittee in closed session.

The attorney delayed opening of today's session for nearly an hour after he had arrived here by train from Los Angeles.

Under questions of Chairman Ferguson (R-Mich) McCarthy explained that he had used the time "to glance" over his previous testimony and "talk with Mr. Hughes."

Hughes has testified that Meyers sought jobs both during the war and for the post-war period and also asked a $200,000 loan to finance a government bond purchase deal.

Denied by Meyers

Meyers, now retired on a pension, has denied that he sought a job during the war or a loan. Instead he said Hughes offered him $250,000 for the bond deal through McCarthy.

Meanwhile the retired deputy chief of air force procurement told newsmen testimony he concealed stock holdings in various aircraft companies while the war was going on gave a false impression.

And Chairman Ferguson (R-Mich) of the senate war investigating committee commented:

"We haven't even lit the fire under him yet."

In still another development the justice department disclosed that it has been "looking into" the general's affairs. The official who gave out this information declined to elaborate.

Referring to this at a news conference last night, Meyers said, "No one wants an investigation, but I am willing to give the facts as I have before the senate committee at closed and open hearings."

Ferguson said he planned to devote today's session to two witnesses, one of whom he declined to identify in advance. The other was McCarthy.

Asks for Court Martial

Testimony about Meyers' connections with aircraft firms aroused him to the point yesterday where he announced to reporters that he has asked for a court martial "to prove my innocence or guilt."

Air force officials said they had informed Meyers they lacked jurisdiction, since he was retired as a member of the Army, and the Air Force has since become an independent arm of the service.

Army authorities said Meyers had not repeated his court mar-

Smoking Question Sets Otterbein Campus Ablaze

By The Associated Press

WESTERVILLE, O., Nov. 15—To smoke or not to smoke, that was the burning question at century-old Otterbein college today.

Students and faculty of the institution voiced widely divergent opinions on the propriety of allowing dancing and smoking in the school's nearly completed Student Union building.

A group of ministerial students opposed the idea with a petition and the observation by a leader, Delbert Krumm of Westerville that "smoking and dancing are not conducive to the building of Christian character."

Another group of students fought as valiantly for both amusements. Douglas Gordon of Columbus declared:

"Over there is a recreational building that is gathering dust because they won't allow us to dance and smoke. The new building will 'go' if they allow dancing and smoking. It will flop if they don't."

As matters stood, it appeared dancing and smoking in the "Otterbarn" will be permitted. Only reversal of earlier action by the trustees' executive committee can ban either, school officials pointed out.

Probe of the general's wartime financial maneuvers by the senate war investigating committee is out growth of public hearings on Howard Hughes war contracts. (International)

Two Bands Put on Spectacular Show at Grid Game Halftime

By FRANCES HAAS

Both the Harding High school band and the visiting band from Fremont Ross High school were present to add color to the Harding-Fremont football game here last night with their performances during the halftime intermission.

The formations for the final game of the season for the Presidents were a thrilling sight to see with the band lights and other lighting effects which have been used by the Harding band extensively this season featuring the show.

The Fremont band, outstanding in their blue uniforms trimmed with a red stripe, saluted Marion's power shovel industry by forming a "steam" shovel. As they played "I've Been Working on the Railroad," the wheels formed at the bottom of the shovel revolved and the scoop could be seen moving up and down as in work. The band also saluted the Harding fans with a "HI," playing the Ohio State fight song, and went into an "F" for their many hometown fans present, playing the Fremont school fight song, "March of the Little Giant."

An opening fanfare by the Harding band, in their red and black uniforms and directed by Homer Huffman, began their part of the halftime program, after which they maneuvered into an "RH" for the visiting Ross High fans.

Mark Education Week

In observance of American Education Week which was held in the city schools this week, the band carried out the education theme with the formation of a lamp of knowledge, during which they played "America the Beautiful." While the band remained in this formation, E. E. Holt, superintendent of Marion city schools, gave a brief talk over the public address system.

With the stadium lights out, Martha Douce, one of the drum majorettes gave a flag twirling exhibition with an illuminated flag.

With the field still darkened and the band in a block formation, a huge "grandfather clock" was illuminated in the center of the field. The band went through an entire day by playing songs pertaining to various hours.

To begin the day, the clock was heard striking midnight. From there, the hands went to 1 o'clock, and the band played "Hickory Dickery Dock," with a mouse running up and down the side of the clock as in the well known nursery rhyme. Then at 3 o'clock the band played "It's Three O'clock in the Morning," and at 6 o'clock, "Reveille" was played by Wallace Musgrave, a member of the band. At the 3 o'clock hour, a special baton twirling act was put on by the drum majorettes with lighted batons.

At the next hour, representing 7 o'clock in the morning, the music "The World Is Waiting for the Sunrise," was heard. This was followed by 8 o'clock with the band playing "Of What A Beautiful Morning," and Jim Ren, a member of the school choir, singing a chorus of the song.

Then, at the end of the day, representing 6 p. m., the band played "Now the Day Is Over," and at 8 p. m., "In the Evening by the Moonlight," by a brass quartet composed of Robert Wingett and Dick Umbaugh, trumpets, and Tom Ballinger and Clark Daugherty, trombones.

Time didn't permit the Harding band to finish their formations and music which would have included the playing of taps to complete the grandfather clock formation, and the forming of an "H" in salute to the hometown fans and the playing of the school fight and alma mater songs.

The clock and special lighting effects were arranged by Levi Welch, superintendent of the school buildings in Marion, and D. A. Brown of the Brown Radio Service.

Preceding the kickoff of the game, the two bands combined for the flag raising ceremony and played the National Anthem. They were directed by Walter Sells, director of the Fremont Ross band.

PAY BOOST NOT ENOUGH, SAYS BROTHERHOOD HEAD

By International News Service

CLEVELAND, Nov. 15—President Alexander F. Whitney of the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen said that he considers the 15½-cents-an-hour wage increase agreement reached at Chicago between the railroads and two operating brotherhoods as "far from satisfactory." He added, however, that "I guess it's the best we can get at the present time."

Whitney told International News Service that the increase was a foregone conclusion since "the railroads could not evade giving the operating brotherhoods the same amount awarded by the labor board to the non-operation unions.

"But the 15½ cents will not protect the employes against the sharp increase in the cost of living since May, 1946."

UAW ENDS MEETING UNDER NEW HEADS

By The Associated Press

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., Nov. 15—Delegates to the convention of the CIO United Auto Workers were on their way home today, under unified leadership but far from being one big happy family.

The convention adjourned last night after a lively squabble. Many delegates shouted "machine politics!" at President Walter Reuther. Reuther later told reporters it had been "the most orderly and constructive convention in UAW history."

Reuther forces had swept nearly all elective offices.

He told reporters the four top officers of the union would sign non-Communist affidavits today as requested by the Taft-Hartley act before unions can seek protection of the national labor relations board.

The convention last Monday directed officers to file such statements.

In the final day and night, the convention couldn't find time for several important resolutions, including one on wages and prices, and another on U. S. foreign policy. Both were referred to the new executive board for its Nov. 24 meeting in Detroit.

THREAT OF RIOT SPREADS INTO CAPITAL CITY

Spread of Communist Disorder Continues in Italy and France.

By The United Press

ROME, Nov. 15—The Communist-commanded Chamber of Labor started a general transportation strike in Rome at noon today, threatening for the first time to infect the capital with the plague of Communist riot and disorder sweeping Italy from top to bottom.

The strike started without warning. Streetcars and buses started refusing to take on passengers at noon and headed back to their barns. Similar sudden strikes had heralded outbreaks of killing—in other large cities.

The government had foreseen violence—rioting, beating and the probability that the Communists would try to start trouble in Rome and tanks and flying squads of police had been standing by for three days. Consequently, there was the possibility of a bloody showdown with the Communists, if they start sacking rightist newspapers and party officers, as they have done in more than 100 other places.

14 More Cities Hit

Fourteen more Italian cities were hit by violence last night. New disorder ranged from Milan in the north to the heel of the Italian boot and to Sardinia last night and early today.

The Communists were outraged because police turned back their mobs with tear gas and clubs. They called this "repression," and Giuseppe Di Vittorio, Communist labor boss, demanded that the moderate government "guarantee Democratic liberties before we workers do it ourselves."

The transportation strike in Rome was called without warning after Di Vittorio had threatened that "workers" would take the law into their own hands.

Two more men were killed last night, making a total of nine in 10 days. For the first time, one of the victims was a member of Premier Alcide de Gasperi's Christian Democrat party. He was Mario Monga, 21, a Christian Democrat party worker, who was found at Cernusco, 30 miles east of Milan, with his throat ripped open.

An unidentified member of the Uomo Qualunque party, which the Communists call "Fascist," was killed in Cremona, 50 miles southeast of Milan, by a mob advancing to sack his party headquarters. The mob complained that he fired a pistol in an effort to stop them.

After the killing, the mob proceeded to tear up the party headquarters and also wrecked the monarchist and rightist newspaper offices, there were more than 2,000 persons in the mob and police could not stop them, although they injured five members of it with their clubs.

PARIS, Nov. 15—The French Communist party declared war today on Premier Paul Ramadier's policy of raising railroad, gas and electric rates as a result of the cancellation of state subsidies to the nationalized coal industry.

A communique issued early today after a long meeting of the party's political bureau said the Communists would "prepare everything to assure the success of the action of the popular masses against high prices."

The Paris committee of the party backed this up by denouncing "the famine policy of the Ramadier government" and by calling on "all Parisians to fight the new famine decrees."

The government yesterday decreed 45 per cent increases in gas and electric rates and a 25 per cent hike in railroad and subway fares because it said the end of subsidies to the coal industry had boosted coal prices more than 1,000 francs (about $2) per ton.

The new Communist move constituted a new phase of the far left struggle against the Ramadier government which began when Communists were ousted from the French cabinet last May. It also was a further step in the party's campaign against Socialist and against Americans, which

Seek Peace Agreement In "Battle of Newark"

By The Associated Press

NEWARK, N. J., Nov. 15—The much publicized and oft-postponed "battle of Newark" was delayed again today while both sides conferred over a possible settlement without combat action.

A truce was reached late yesterday by Newark officials and counsel for the salvage firm which purchased the decommissioned battleship New Mexico for scrapping at Port Newark. The agreement put off until at least tomorrow any attempt to move the 30,000-ton former dreadnaught into action against Newark's "navy" of two 30-foot fireboats.

Love's Perilous Path

By ADELE GARRISON

"In the deflation of Georges, I'm with you one hundred and fifty per cent," I told Mary emphatically. "You think up the schemes. I'll carry them out.

"But," I added an anxious corollary, "do you realize what a trific toll this is going to take of your strength? You won't be able to do very much on your lines if your mind and heart are set on bringing Georges face to face with facts."

"My, my! What alliteration!" she mocked. "You'll be giving that old alliteration hound, Uncle Dicky, cards and spades, and beating the little Eton trousers right offen him, if you don't watch your step."

"It's your step we're discussing," I told her, "so don't try to throw the switch again."

"I'm right back on the main line," she said, making a little moue at me, "and I'm answering the ninety-nine dollar question right now. But, first, I want to know just why you inserted the word 'heart' into your question. My heart isn't going to skip the fraction of a beat over this business of deflating Georgie Porgie. But oh boy! My mind, and my venom glands are going to town."

"That's the thing of which I'm afraid," I told her. "You're going to pour out your nervous energy as if it were water."

"But it will be electrically charged water," she answered with another gamin grin. Then she sobered suddenly, and gave me a straightforward earnest look.

"Look here, darling," she said. "You've known me always. Did you ever know a time when pleasurable, stimulating excitement did me any harm?"

I sent a flashback over the years since the tragic death of Mary's parents, when her uncle Dicky and I, after an interval of the Brathwaites' loving, but misunderstanding care, virtually had apopted the four orphaned children of my husband's sister.

"No, dearest," I told her truthfully, "you always have appeared to thrive on pleasurable excitement. But, you spoke of your venom glands. Are you sure this business of Georges is going to be all pleasure?"

"What do you mean?" she demanded, her face darkening. "D'ye think I'm going to be eaten up with revenge or perhaps that I'll have moments of remorse? Please get both ideas out of your mind pronto, also p.d.q.. My venom glands will simply exude food for my laughter muscles. The only danger I'll run is that of laughing myself into fatal hysterics."

She had talked herself back into good humor, and I looked at her radiant face and sparkling eyes with the bewilderment I always accord her unpredictable moods.

"I throw up my hands," I told her. "With anybody else in the world, I'd predict a nervous breakdown once the wedding is over. But——"

"I'll have a nervous breakdown if I don't send Georges to the altar in a mood so thankful that he's marrying Olina instead of a hellion like me," she said. "And don't you ever think I can't do it. Just make it possible for me to see him occasionally alone for not more than three minutes at a time, and I'll have my little knout all ready for action.

"I'll go back to bed now," she said, rising. "Believe or not, all this has made me wonderfully sleepy. And when I waken, I'll go into the silence, and begin to weave my spells. Oh, I forgot! I'll be seeing Noel in the morning and he'll be in a mood over this, or I don't know him. Shall I feign ignorance of the whole thing?"

"If you do, there'll be no breakfast table discussion," I told her, "for Noel said he did not wish to tell you himself of Georges' return; he would rather I did it."

"Poor Auntie Madge!" Mary digressed. "She gets all the dirty jobs. Well, tomorrow's another day! I won't have to decide about Noel until I waken tomorrow morning. Then I can thrash it out with myself."

She came over to me, and gave me a crushing hug and a kiss.

"Don't you give me another second's worry," she said. "This wedding thing is going to be better than any medicine. Please ask Olina to come down and see me tomorrow. I want to congratulate her, although I really ought to be handing her a mourning wreath, and of course we'll want to make plans for the wedding. Good night, now. Shall I waken Aunt Katharine? I'll give you two full permission to wring your hands over my perversity."

RIZZO ACCORDION QUARTET

Accordion Quartet Concert Scheduled For Tuesday Night

Something new in musical attractions, an accordion quartet, will be presented in Marion Tuesday night as the final program of the fall concert series sponsored by the Business and Professional Women's club. The group will appear at the Edison Junior High school auditorium at 8 o'clock.

Andrew Rizzo, a "teacher of teachers" of the piano accordion and president of the National Association of Piano Accordion Teachers, has chosen the artists and built the program of the presentation which will be heard here. He has described the accordion as an almost unexplored instrument in the concert field capable of "producing the deep tones of an organ, the muted strings of a violin, the sonorous notes of the cello."

For this tour, the first of its kind, featuring four concert artists on the instrument, he chose Misses Sally Dern and Connie Conrad, and Emmanuel Quartuccio and Benjamin Ortigara. All are experienced in the concert field and are making the tour as a demonstration "that the piano accordion when played by a real artist is indeed a major instrument."

Single admission tickets will be available at the door. Miss Martha Fabian, in charge of ticket sales for the Business and Professional Women's club announced.

A program of nuptial music by Mrs. Fred Cahall preceded the ceremony read at 2 o'clock by Rev. Herbert Garnes.

Given in marriage by her father, Miss Miller wore a powder blue metallic draped style frock with flower trimmed black hat and back accessories. Her flowers were gardenias surrounded by yellow roses. The maid of honor, Miss Marjorie Woodard, was costumed in a brown crepe dress with matching accessories. Her corsage was gardenias and red roses.

William Distl of Mansfield served as best man for Mr. Sonnanstine.

Following the ceremony there was a wedding dinner at the Sky club for members of the bridal party.

After Nov. 23 the couple will be at their new home at 275 South Grand avenue.

The bride was graduated from Mansfield Senior High school and attended Mansfield Business Training college and Ohio university. She was secretary to the president and vice president of the Empire Steel Corporation. Mr. Sonnanstine, who is engaged in farming, attended Riverside Military academy. In service 47 months during World War II he served more than two and one-half years with the Ninth Army Air Force in the European theater.

Publishers' Conviction Upheld by Court

By The Associated Press

ALBANY, N. Y., Nov. 15—The New York court of appeals Thursday unanimously upheld the conviction of Doubleday and Company, Inc., on a charge of violating the state penal law relating to obscene literature in publication and sale of Edmund Wilson's book, "Memoirs of Hecate County."

There was no opinion.

The New York City publishing house was found guilty and fined $1,000 last November 27 in special sessions court in New York.

The company, upon conviction, ceased publication of the book which the prosecution charged was "obscene, lewd and indecent." The book is a collection of stories of suburban life. The special sessions judges voted two to one for conviction.

SUIT SEEN AS BLOW TO AUTO "BLACK MARKET"

By Brush-Moore News Service

PORTSMOUTH, Nov. 15—Portsmouth automobile dealers heralded today a suit filed in common pleas court here which they said was designed to retard alleged black marketing in new cars.

In a suit against Dean Slavens of Portsmouth, the Watkins Motor Co. alleged the defendant resold a new car in violation of a purchase agreement.

The auto dealer asserted the agreement called for Slavens to keep the car for six months or sell it back to the dealer for $1,983.32. The suit charges Slavens sold the new car the same day he bought it to an Ashland (Ky.) auto dealer for $2,590.

The Watkins company asked the difference—$606.68—as damages.

Centerburg Fights For Train Service

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., Nov. 15—The citizens of Centerburg, which boasts being the geographical center of Ohio, stood firm today in their opposition to the Pennsylvania railroad's plan to take off two passenger trains now serving the village and other communities between Columbus and Akron.

At a hearing yesterday before the state public utilities commission's trial examiner Thomas Maxson, groups from Mount Vernon, Centerburg and other way points attacked the railroad's proposal to abandon day trains No. 604 and 605, especially on the ground it would cripple express and mail service.

The railroad contends the railway express agency could handle shipments by truck on substantially the same schedule as by rail.

A. M. Donnan of Pittsburgh, assistant general counsel for the railroad, at the close of the third day of the hearing asked H. W. McCalla, Centerburg merchant, whether the substitute truck service would not do just as well as trains.

McCalla, a quick spoken Irishman, replied: "I wouldn't trade what the railroad does for all the (danged) trucks in Ohio."

Maxson said the hearing would continue at 10 a. m. Monday and probably last through Tuesday.

State Highway Patrol Reaches 14th Birthday

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., Nov. 15—Ohio's state highway patrol reached its fourteenth birthday anniversary today in the midst of flourishing crime and increasing traffic mishaps which pointed up the patrol's manpower lacks.

More officers, said the patrol, should be hired at a higher salary to "attract the high type of individual required by the organization."

The patrol said in 1947 its 302-man staff had investigated 12,000 accidents involving 10,000 persons—a 22 per cent hik over 1946.

Sixty men comprised the original patrol.

FIGHTS TAX DODGER

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., Nov. 15—State Tax Commissioner C. Emery Glander today continued his fight against what he termed "widespread" evasion of the state sales tax—both by merchants and by the public. Latest step in his battle against the tax dodgers came in an announcement of a Dec. 3 meeting with executives of trade associations, who will be asked to help the state department of taxation enforce the law.

ROADMASTER is the name—18 feet of lively size, comfort and fine finish. Powered by a 144 h. p. Fireball straight-eight, it gives you flashing performance rarely to be found in a car of such size, room and superlatively fine interior finish. White sidewall tires, as illustrated, available at extra cost.

How to be Smart — and Show it

THOSE who drive them, and so should know, will tell you straight out that there is no smarter buy you can make than a Buick Roadmaster.

On the road, they say, there's just nothing to touch the lift and life in its big 144 h.p. Fireball straight-eight power plant.

In town, they find it a dream come true — quick on the green lights, uncomplaining and smooth when traffic crawls at snail's pace, the easiest parking eighteen-footer they ever laid hands on.

For finish and appointments, they declare, it doffs its cap to no one — and where else, they ask you, can you find style that's smarter, more distinguished, more surely a foretaste of the best that's to come?

So, they reason, you mark yourself as a smart investor when you make your highway appearance in a Roadmaster.

You mark yourself as one alert not only to what's fresh-looking and fashion-worthy but to what's fine beyond tradition's standards in finish and ride, handling and lively action.

Why not see a Buick dealer now, with or without a car to trade, and make sure your future holds something truly fine to see—and even finer to own?

And One Makes Three

CALIFORNIA'S breezy straight-talking Governor Warren's announcement that he's running for the G.O.P. presidential nomination too, makes a field of three straight-talkers—Taft, Stassen and Warren. They are the avowed candidates, though Warren says he will seek no delegates outside his own state. Governor Dewey has never declared himself a candidate. Gen. Eisenhower, likewise a strong possibility, is not seeking the nomination.

The Republican possibilities for 1948 think the nomination is worth having. Their competition seems certain to be helpful to the country. Each of them must find a tenable political position and justify it, in order to emerge as a candidate for party leadership, something Harry Truman never has had to do.

He is the leader of the party in control of the executive branch because he was chosen by an inner council of men responsible only to Franklin D. Roosevelt. He did not seek the vice presidency and did not want the presidency when fate gave it to him. He is the Democratic leader only by virtue of being in office. Elsewhere in the Democratic party there is not a single man who is of presidential caliber, even assuming Mr. Truman might step aside and leave the nomination wide open.

Balloon Hoisters

A TRIAL balloon hoisted by one of the congressional subcommittees sounding out popular opinion on domestic problems has these stimulating ideas painted on its sides:

Voluntary rationing,—tax reduction for low income groups—voluntary limits on wage boosts and profits—investigation of the 40-hour week.

In the remote event that someone may be puzzled about a subcommittee headed by a Vermont Republican mentioning such matters at this time, it is sufficient to remember that President Truman is preparing a message to the special session of congress on the same subjects. Whatever he may have decided to say has lost its edge as a consequence of the Republicans' adroit maneuver.

As for rationing being resumed, you can bet it won't happen. Every person in the government past the mental age of two years and seven months knows that rationing hasn't a chance in peacetime; it would have no public backing. It could be made to work only in the form of allocations, and allocations could be made to work only in connection with price control.

Price control, however, isn't worth a whoop without wage controls—and wage controls are unthinkable for an administration that intends to seek reelection as the bosom friend of union leaders opposing the Taft-Hartley act.

Mr. Truman has a tough assignment for his opening speech to the special session. The G.O.P. trial balloon on rationing, taxation, limited work weeks and so on has made it much tougher.

The Chancellor Erred

THE inadvertent remark of Hugh Dalton that resulted in his resignation as chancellor of the exchequer seems odd in the United States, where no secrecy attaches to formulation of the budget.

British budget details are as carefully guarded as our agriculture department's crop estimates. Instead of being thrashed out in open hearings, the British budget is compiled with greatest secrecy by exchequer officials without aid or advice from parliament. Investors and speculators can learn much from budget details—where taxes will fall, customs revenues, etc.

"Budget day" in parliament is an important occasion, the chancellor carries in his sealed case top-secret figures which commons may examine and question but can do little about changing without a change in government.

The most curious feature of the Dalton incident is how an experienced government official could make such a careless remark without being aware of the consequences.

He'll Be Back

KING MICHAEL of Romania, leaving his Communist-held realm to attend the royal wedding in London, scoffed at reports he was fleeing. He promised he would be back.

Michael will sit on his shaky throne as long as Comrades Pauker and Groza, the Romanian Communist leaders, have use for him, or until they believe his popularity has declined sufficiently. Like hitching posts in a filling station, a king in a Communist country is an anomaly. Michael eventually will lose his throne.

Meanwhile, he must take care lest he commit the mistake made by Juliu Maniu, the elder Romanian statesman who four months ago said the Communists wouldn't dare lay a hand on him because the people wouldn't permit it. Today he is serving life in solitary confinement.

Did You Know

The United States has a yearly milk supply of 56 billion quarts which goes into butter, cheese, ice cream, and other dairy products.

The urban state of New York has a larger farm population than the five rural states of North and South Dakota, Nebraska, Wyoming and Montana combined.

Scanning the Record

By George E. Sokolsky

A Lively Discussion Via Radio.

THE radio employs the device of the so-called forum to give the impression of being all things to all men. Because an editorial policy is forbidden by FCC, these programs often become hilarious brawls during which the only way to express an idea is to shout down the opponents, to push into the fight, to raise one's voice beyond civility. Clare Luce got into such a brawl with William Bullitt on her side and Vito Marcantonio and Corliss Lamont on the other.

Here is an example of a typical street corner fight:

"Marcantonio: What were those 150 million bullets? What were they — chewing gum or what?

Geo. E. Sokolsky

"Bullitt: What do you refer to—

"Marcantonio: The 150 million that was shipped over there six months ago; 150 million bullets not for American rifles, but for Chinese rifles.

"Bullitt: Those were—

"Marcantonio: No, those were chewing gum.

"Lamont: Say, let me get in on this, will you?"

In another place this happens:

"Luce: Gracious, this begins to sound exactly like the UN, and somebody around here sounds like Vishinsky—

"Marcantonio: It sounds a little bit more like congress—

"Luce: Don't run down the congress like that.

"Marcantonio: That's all right. When you refer to anything sounding like Vishinsky, I say this sounds like congress, Mrs. Luce, when you used to agree with me on occasion.

"Granik: Just a moment—give Mrs. Luce a chance to answer that, please, congressman.

"Luce: As I don't follow a party line, I can find it possible occasionally to agree with even you.

"Marcantonio: Now you are following a 'big trust' line, not a party line."

A Rollicking Time

Is this fun?

When Mrs. Luce quotes from a Soviet official textbook to this effect: "The pupils of the Soviet school must realize that the feelings of Soviet patriotism are saturated with irreconcilable hatred towards the enemies of the socialist society," Corliss Lamont replies: "What they really mean there, is that the children of the Soviet Union should fight for socialism against capitalism. It is not a hatred being taught against any country or any people, because the Soviet Union believes in complete national and racial democracy and has no anti-semitism or anything of that sort."

Then Clare gets Lamont good and proper. He walks right in and gets it on the chin. Here is the colloquy:

"Luce: Mr. Lamont, as you have been a member of over 100 Communist-front organizations—

"Lamont: That is ridiculous. That is nonsense—

"Luce: I have them right here—

"Lamont: Who is smearing now, Mrs. Luce? Who is engaging in personalities, now?

"Luce: Oh, do you think it is a smear to be called a Communist?

"Lamont: Go ahead, my friend.

"Luce: Well, I thought you like the Communists.

"Lamont: Go ahead.

"Luce: Goodness, I thought they were your friends and you were defending them.

"Lamont: Well, Hitler hated the Communists, too.

"Luce: Oh, Hitler hated them!

All Plungers?

"Marcantonio: Yes, and he used the hate of Communism in order to plunge the world into World War II, and you people are using the hate of Communism to plunge this world into World War III. That's what you are doing. I am thinking of the boys who are going to die.

"Luce: It seems to me that the only one of us—

"Granik: Let Mrs. Luce finish, Mr. Lamont.

"Luce: The only one of the four of us who really has any claim to knowledge of Russia is Mr. Bullitt, who was ambassador there. I think he should be allowed to talk about Russia."

It goes on and on that way, no one arguing to the point because apparently Marcantonio was there to keep it strictly personal and to prevent the subject, "The Soviet Union's policies in world affairs," from being discussed.

Well, that was that: It is a pattern. The radio must amuse. It must excite. Its tempo must be fast. The minutes tick away. Watches are held in hand. Signals come from the wings. Everybody is keyed up because tempus fugit and the next program is on the heels of this one. There is not a second to waste. Keep it hot, boys. Flash, dash, smash—what the hell!

Just a Minute

By Jack Tarver

This Suit Was Hand Made.

A memphis deaf mute is suing for divorce on grounds that his wife, who is similarly afflicted, nagged him constantly.

Even in sign language, a man can take only so much.

O course, it does seem that, when worse came to worst, he could merely have closed his eyes and ignored her.

Either that or silenced her with a pair of mittens.

At any rate, divorce proceedings have been brought and the case will be tried as soon as they can round up 12 good men and true who understand sign language.

Meanwhile, legal authorities are watching developments with more than casual interest: It could be the first time in history that any one ever committed perjury with their fingers.

Life's Tiny Strands

By Frank Tripp

IT WAS in Appleton's second Reader when I went to school—the picture and thrilling story of a man atop a high brick stack, with no way to get down. By any chance do remember it?

There he was, way up high, and the rope which took him there had slipped through its pulley and lay on the ground. A group of people, clustered near, were looking up. These seemed no way he could escape. The whole class pondered his plight and imagined him staying there to die, else jumping to his death.

Frank Tripp

Then the monosyllabic story told how he managed. It left a suggestion of resourcefulness and ingenuity in little minds, to linger through the years and bear rich fruit for those who had a bent to see things through against big odds.

In the group that stood beside the stack was the workman's wife. When all else had failed she had a thought—the socks she'd knitted for him.

She cupped her hands and called to him. "John, the socks. Ravel them!" John set himself to work. Slowly the yarn descended to the ground. A string was attached. John pulled it up; then a stronger cord, and finally the rope he'd lost was in his hands, put through the blocks and he came down. If John had worn nylons he might be there still.

Have you ever wondered how treacherous distances were spanned before men flew and got most any place they wished? How were the first great bridges suspended across deep chasms, where no scaffolds could be built?

I looked that up and found that in one case an answer as simple as the workman's socks made the first crossing for a famous bridge that brought friendly peoples closer.

It was the first bridge to cross Niagara's Gorge, a suspension bridge near Lewistown. A boy did that. It cost all of $10 to get the first strand across. That was a substantial sum to a boy those days and Homan Walsh traveled from Lincoln, Neb., to earn it.

The money was a reward offered to the first boy who would fly his kite across the gorge so its string could be fastened to a tree on either side. As with the sock yarn, stouter cords were pulled across, then a rope strong enough to stretch the first heavy suspension cable from American to British soil.

Thus tiny strands formed the foundation of great engineering feats which people use and view from day to day and give no thought to how they came about or how primitive may have been the first steps of their creation.

Nature often plays big part in jobs machinery cannot do. One time a huge steel tank eight feet in diameter and 20 feet long had to be dropped on end in a hole slightly larger than its girth.

There was no way to grasp it by tackle; no way to place it without crushing its end from the long drop to the bottom of the pit.

An ingenious builder would not be whipped. He had the pit filled with cakes of ice. The mammoth tank was skidded on the ice end up. The workmen went about something else. Slowly, safely and exactly placed, nature took the tank to its foundation.

Often there are simple answers to problems in one's daily life; but fretters ignore them and search instead for a ponderous solution that a piece of twine would solve. A bit of engineering genius, inborn in many men, gives common answers, often found in the resourcefulness of their fathers. Their lives roll on—sublime, serene.

Such people live to ripe old age, through calm, contented years. They waste no precious hours on work that cannot befall them.

Worry kills, the experts say; not always, though. There was the old maid, past 70, who sat crying her eyes out one rainy day because, she said:

"I was thinking: what if I had married and had a little girl and she was playing 'round the rain barrel and fell in and got drowned. Boohoo, ain't life just one worry after another."

Daily Bible Thought

Men and women often imagine they can live on cream puffs of silly pleasures and get satisfaction out of life. Moral starvation can wreck civilization. We desperately need strong men and women, properly nourished: "I am the bread of life, he that cometh to me shall never hunger. And he that believeth on me shall never thirst." —John 6:35.

Useful Silicone

A scant two years ago the new "inorganic rubber" or "bouncing putty," called silicone, came out of the laboratory. It seemed to offer promise in its combination of rubber-like flexibility and ability to stand heat that would ruin an organic material. It has lived up to the early promises. A recent extension of its use in making paints and enamels that will withstand severe conditions without losing flexibility and gloss. Another use: silicone repels water, and according to a laboratory report, on road material affords protection to pavements.—O. S. U. Science and Appliance.

True Then as Now

The following lines were written by Heinrich von Treitschke, German historian, not, as some might suppose, last week, but in 1879. He was referring to the Thirty Years' War but the reference is just as apropus today:

"Then finally the last, the decisive war of the era breaks loose upon the Reich. All the European powers take part in this war, the legions of all nations, and their scum, spread over the German soil. In indescribable destruction the old Germany perishes. Those who once strove for the domination of the world are thrown underneath the feet of the alien nations through the pitless justice of history.

"Rhine and Ems, Elbe and Weser, Oder and Vistula, all approaches to the sea are the captives of foreign nations. Two-thirds of the nation have been swept away by the dreadful war; the demoralized generation which still ekes out a harassed existence in dirt and poverty does not evince a trace of the former greatness of German character, of the bold and serene heroism of the forefathers.

The wealth of an ancient civilization, everything that adorns and ennobles life has disappeared and is forgotten until down to the secrets of the guilds of the artisans. The whole life of the nation lies prostrate before every influx of the superior culture of foreign peoples. The masses of the populace lose the memory of the majesty of wonderful centuries over the depth of their misery, over the trivial cares of their wretched days; the witnesses of the past glories of the citizenry, the ancient domes, look strongely and eerily down upon a changed world."

Information Please and the Pian

Dan Golenpaul, owner of Information Pl has sued J. Caesar Petrillo through the Natio Labor Relations Board, charging that the m czar wants to make him pay 300 stand-in p ists for the one he uses in New York on broadcast. We envision the NLRB conductin hearing in the Information Please pattern.

Chairman. Now then gentlemen..

First Board Member. Just a minute. Shouldn't this program begin with the roos crowing?

Chairman. Do you want us to get involved in a dispute over 300 stand-in roosters? Our first question comes from a Mr. Daniel Golenpaul of New York City who asks, "Who does this J. C. Petrillo think he is anyhow?"

H. I. Phillips

First Board Member. Jehovah?

Chairman. No, but you're warm.

Second Board Member. Send Golenpaul a set of encyclopaedia and let's have the next question.

* * *

Chairman. This one comes from a D. Golenpaul, also of New York... it's a peculiar coincidence....He asks, "Which came first, the pia or the egg?"

Third Board Member. What egg is he speaking of?

Chairman. Petrillo, I assume.

Chairman. Correct! We now get a quest from a Mrs. Ambrose who wants to know w has been playing the piano in Informa Please.

First Board Member. Joseph Kahn.

Chairman. Does he play it as well as Os Levant?

First Board Member. No, but he realizes is solely a piano player.

Chairman. If Levant were playing on t Information Please Program would Petrillo a 300 more piano players?

Second Board Member. I have heard Os play when I thought he was 300 other pia players.

Chairman. A miss Sadie Buxbaum of Spri Valley asks why has Petrillo waited so ma years before squawking about the Info Plea piano player?

Third Board Member. Up to now Petrillo h also been concentrating on trying to identify t tune just like the rest of us.

Chairman. A Mr. George Wiggles of Phoen asks this question—"If Info Please is require to use 300 pianists, why not 300 Clifton Fac mans, 300 Adamses and 300 Kierans?"

First Board Member. That would mean 3 questions and 600 hands up in the air at on time.

Chairman. Correct. Nobody seems to be stump ing us tonight. A Mrs. Ella Phoost of Rockawa Park asks, "Why not let John Kieran play th piano on the program?"

A Guest. Does Mr. Kieran play the piano?

Chairman. On the slightest excuse.

Guest. I think Mr. Golenpaul would be sma to let Kieran play the piano. This would knoc from under Petrillo the basic claim that music i involved.

Chairman. Right. And not an encyclopaedi lost so far.

Guest. Is that good?

Chairman. Good! Well, if Petrillo is thinkin of demanding a stand-in encyclopaedia reade for every encyclopaedia winner. You can figur out what that would mean!

T. Manville's Essay

By Truman Twill

Things looked dark for a column today. Th typewriter just sat there, a black monster with out an idea in it anywhere. The boss he just sa there too, without. . .nice day, hay bossy?

Suddenly there arose such a clatter everybod ran to the window to see something spatter. Bu it was only one of Uncle Sam's superannuate postoffice trucks. The driver got out, slowly, an came into the building. He was reading some thing on a correspondence card. "Here's an essa from T. Manville," he cried. "It's about money as nearly as I can make out. That cat must have short paws for station identification or some thing. I can hardly read his writing."

This is what the card said:

"Am writing this on correspondence card, the only thing left that can be bought for a penny besides a stick of chewing gum. When a cat writes essays for guys who need help to get out newspaper columns for 85 cents apiece, he has to watch his pennies. I do not mean the guys who get out the columns get 85 cents apiece, but the cats. The guys take a middleman's profit. Phhhttt! Organized cats of the world arise! What have we to lose but our tails? Ha, ha.

"So I am reading yesterday where a cat was left enough money by some human to buy a trainload of catnip, a shipload of sardines and live in a highclass hotel the rest of his life. And I get to thinking what fools people are. They get so money-nuts they think they're doing a favor to some cat by leaving the fur-ball a fortune. They forget cats are smarter than people and do not need money—at least not in chunks. I am better off on 85 cents every 10 days or so than I'd be with $85,000, because there is nothing I could safely do with $85,000. I couldn't invest it, gamble with it, or pay somebody to keep his mouth shut. I couldn't use it to get control of a corporation, a property, or a couple of race horses. I couldn't blow it on hot spots, pay off an accomplice, hire a bodyguard, buy myself a fur coat, build a new house, or start a business. I couldn't put it in a box and count it, like a miser. Because no one would take a cat with $85,000 seriously. If I had $85,000 what probably would happen to me is that some chunk would break my back with a ball bat and take the money. Which is why I do not want any money left to me. Money is only for people. Cats will take pleasure—thank you, which is something money can't buy as anyone who has a lot of money to leave to a cat apparently has found out.

"The sun shines here in Florida every day, though not always in the same place. They have a song they sing here—"Somewhere the sun is shining, we hope, we hope, we hope."

Ivory Fragment

FORT COLLINS, Colo.—Ivory has been discovered in Colorado but don't bother to reach for your elephant gun. The tusk belonged to a mammoth who shuffled off the mortal coil some 25,000 years ago. The find—three feet long and 20½ inches in circumference was reported by Maj. Roy G. Coffin, retired geology professor who lives in Fort Collins. He said the fragment was dug up by a diesel shovel about 200 feet below the surface of the Horsetooth reservoir.

More Perils of Freedom

A Sermonette

By REV. E. H. WIERTH

Pastor of First Evangelical and Reformed Church

Texts (hymns): "Make me a captive, Lord, and then I shall be free." "Our father's God, to Thee, Author of Liberty, to Thee we sing."

LAST week Dr. Busler of Epworth Methodist church wrote on some perils to freedom. I wish to add a few more. It is well for us Americans to become concerned about our freedom in that we are living in most uncertain times in which anything can happen. Furthermore, freedom is usually lost long before we are aware of any danger to its being lost. Certainly it is not impossible for us to discern the signs of the times and know what is going on in our world. History didn't begin yesterday and since history very largely repeats itself what is happening today has happened, with variations, many times before. We need to be awake to our world for it has always been true that "eternal vigilance is the price of liberty."

The first additional peril to freedom I wish to mention is ignorance. Not ignorance of school learning or of facts, but of the nature of man. Freedom may be lost because of our misunderstanding of what man will do under given circumstances... Our democratic civilization has just recently come close to complete disaster under an attack from the moral cynics, from those who believed that a strong nation need acknowledge no law beyond its own strength. Not because it accepted the same creed as the cynics, but because of its profound ignorance of the nature of man. It underestimated the power of self-interest, both individual and collective, in modern society. It was too naive to believe that modern, enlightened man could be as demonic as he has shown himself to be, that there was little that was devilish in him and that he was a reasonable and enlightened creature.

The democratic world came close to disaster not merely because it refused to believe that any man or group of men would be as demonic as the Nazis in Germany became, but also because it refused (as it still does) to recognize the power of class interest in its own communities. Thus the enemy (and now the communists) were able to skillfully set nation against nation, and to despoil one nation after another without every civilized nation coming to the defense of each other. To be ignorant of the true nature of man is to endanger our freedom.

The second danger to freedom is due to a mis-interpretation of what freedom actually is. It is to think that freedom is license. There is no such animal as freedom per se. Freedom is not a matter of doing as one pleases, for after one has done as he pleases it often doesn't please him.

Take this matter of worshipping God according to the dictates of one's conscience. And by the way originally the emphasis in this freedom was on the positive—to worship in different ways. It originally was not at all a matter of worshipping or not worshipping, although no doubt that choice is also contained in that freedom. 99 people out of every hundred when asked, "Would you like to live in a community without churches?" would immediately say, "No." And yet about 50 of these 99 seldom attend any church. In other words they want the fruits of church life in a community but they do nothing to help produce these fruits. They thereby make a license of the freedom to worship. They naively assume that God is immoral. That anything goes by Him. That it is not true that as a man soweth so shall he also reap. But God is not mocked not even by the best intentioned people. If you destroy the roots you also destroy the fruits. Sure, God has given them the freedom to worship or not to worship. They needn't keep the Sabbath day holy; they needn't worship the Lord God almighty on the Sabbath day. No they needn't do any of these things and a lot of others as well. In all this God gives them free reign and free choice. But certainly they are utterly ignorant if they think they will get the same blessed results from not worshipping as they would from worshipping. After all if you walk north the results will not be the same as though you walked south, and if you eat poison the consequences will not be the same as if you ate bread. Man has the freedom to make choices. But he does not have the power to determine the results of his choices. If through ignorance, or indifference or willfulness he makes the wrong choices the results will be disastrous.

Freedom is a dangerous thing. To use it as license, as though it made no difference in the consequences, is not only stupid—it is to lose it altogether. "Make me a captive Lord, and then I shall be free." To be bound by the righteousness which was in Christ Jesus is to be free. To be bound by anything less is to be a slave.

Colorado, the seventh largest state in the union, is approximately the same size as New York state.

VETERANS HOSPITAL PROGRAM SET HERE

A musical group, the Larkin Sisters quartet, will appear in Marion Nov. 23 on a Veterans Hospital Program concert. The event will be sponsored here by the Marion County Ministerial association. Veterans Hospital Programs is an organization which "provides inspirational entertainment for veterans hospitals and distributes bedside radios to the disabled men." The quartet will be on the afternoon concert which will be presented here at Calvary Evangelical United Brethren church. Besides music, the program will include human interest stories related by Pat B. Withrow concerning his experiences while touring army and navy camps and hospitals during the war. The quartet has had musical spots in radio broadcasts including the "Arthur Godfrey Show," "Rainbow House" and "Hymns You Love." They have appeared before television cameras at a station in Schenectady, N. Y. Individually, they began their musical careers singing in church choirs, and during the war they made personal appearances at service hospitals. The program here will be directed by Mr. Withrow. This concert will be open to the public with no admission charge, it was announced.

Your Good Health

By DR. HERMAN N. BUNDESEN

A Disease Affecting Arteries.

IN choosing their victims, some diseases seem to be "sex conscious." One such ailments is Buerger's disease, which attacks men almost exclusively. Doctors call this condition thrombo-angiitis obliterans, a name which indicates that there is spasm of the arteries, together with inflammation of the arterial lining, sometimes, blood clot formation.

In the vast majority of cases, the arteries of the legs are the ones chiefly affected. Symptoms consist of pain in the legs, particularly after exercise, coldness of the legs, blueness of the skin in the affected area, and occasional limping.

The underlying cause of thrombo-angiitis obliterans is unknown, though it is thought that the excessive use of tobacco may be a factor. This view is supported by the fact that most of those who develop it are heavy smokers, but, on the other hand, the disease has been known to occur in some who have never used tobacco at all.

In treating this conditon three things are necessary: first, to prevent any injury or infection; second, to promote circulation and, third, to relieve pain.

The avoidance of injury to the skin is most important. In general, it is best to avoid the use of antiseptics on the skin unless they are greatly diluted. The feet should be gently cleaned each day with soap and water. The slightest injury or scratch to the skin may lead to infection, and infections in these cases are dangerous and may develop into gangrene.

Care should be taken in cutting the nails to make sure that the soft tissues are not injured. If there are any corns or blisters, they should be taken care of by the doctor to make sure that no infection may occur.

The feet should be protected particularly from excessive heat or cold. In the winter, the patient should wear warm socks and large, loosely-laced shoes.

To aid in improving the circulation, liberal amounts of water should be drunk. The diet should be rich in proteins, such as are contained in meat, milk, and eggs, and should, of course supply all the necessary vitamins and minerals.

One form of treatment frequently suggested is to inject a salt solution into a vein every second day, or about three times a week.

If exercises causes pain, the patient should remain at rest in bed for a time. A certain type of exercise has been suggested, called Beurger's exercise. In carrying this out, the leg is raised for a minute, lowered over the side of the bed for a minute, and rested for five minutes. When the leg is hanging over the side of the bed, the patient should move the foot and the toes.

Pain may be controlled by the use of such drugs as the salicylates. There is an operation known as sympathectomy, in which the nerves running to the arteries are cut. This operation has been found helpful in some cases.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

S. L.: Is there anything that can be done to get rid of superfluous hair on the upper lip?

Answer: Probably the best method to remove superfluous hair is by the electric needle. When properly performed, this method is permanent and leaves no scars. Excess hair may also be removed by depilatories, but by this method the hair grows again. X-ray treatments should not be used to remove hair because of the possibility of permanent injury to the skin.

A skin specialist should be consulted regarding the removal of superfluous hair.

Instructions Given in Repair of Residence Property's Exterior Wall

YOUR HOME TODAY and TOMORROW

by W. Wadsworth Wood

Over 90 per cent of the outside walls of our homes are made of wood. Many of them are of shingles, so laid that there is often three thicknesses of overlapping shingle at any given point. Other wood walls are made of clapboard, in a single thickness, and overlapping at only top and bottom edges.

The main problem in a clapboard wall is to keep the ends of the boards where they butt together, tight against weather. This can be accomplished by an inspection of the exterior walls at regular intervals, and whenever a board-end has sprung out of place, it must be renailed back into place. Only galvanized nails should be used, and they should be driven in at an angle rather than straight, so that they will have a good bite against any inclination of the board to spring out of place again.

The next treatment of a clapboard wall, is to see that the joints at the ends of boards are filled with lead or putty and kept well painted. If you observe an old wood wall which is badly decayed and rotted, you will note that the worst condition is at the ends of the boards. You will also observe that where non-galvanized nails were used that there are rust spots showing the location of every nail-hole. These should be "spotted" with paint, and the board-ends re-enforced with two more galvanized nails

The illustration shown here, indicates the studs which form the back-bone of the house wall, the outside wall of clapboard and the interior wall The outside wall should be kept as smooth and weathertight as possible In fact, it should be maintained so that it were the same as a wall without ends to the boards. The whole idea is to keep weather or moisture out of the wall-cavity which exists between the exterior and interior walls. When you have accomplished this, you will have a dry interior and spotless walls in the rooms.

WOMEN GIVE VIEWS ON HOUSE PLANNING

By The Associated Press

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 15—Now, will the men who build homes for others just bend an ear toward the little woman who has to live in them?

What she wants, Mrs Arthur Mauerham of Berkeley, Calif, told the women's council of the National Association of Real Estate Boards, is:

A separate dining room—with doors to assure privacy—and opening onto a garden

A laundry on the main floor—not in the basement

A fireplace—located on the long wall with at least 10 feet of unobstructed wall space opposite.

And some of the things she doesn't want, Mrs. Mauerham said after polling 300 members of the Berkeley Women's City club, are:

Fireplaces, windows, sinks and bathtubs in corners.

Steps between rooms

Rough-textured plaster walls

Bathrooms opening into two rooms.

Front door chimes and peep holes.

Odd-shaped windows, "especially those small, high windows on either side of a fireplace"

And don't forget, cautioned Mrs. Mauerham, modern architecture still has not alienated the American woman's preference for traditional colonial or Cape Cod.

FIRST AID TO AILING HOUSE

—By ROGER C. WHITMAN—

Cracks in Gypsum Lath

Q: We have a two-year-old addition to our house, consisting of kitchen, bath and utility room We put up gypsum lath on the walls, but did not plaster because of expense There are cracks in the board Do you think we could cover the cracks with paper tape and then paper over it? If this is possible, can we apply plaster over it next year?

A: The paper-tape idea may work out, if you fill the joints with Swedish putty (spackle mixed with paint or varnish). The cracks in the board can be filled with the same compound But I am afraid that the paper strips applied over the surface of the boards will show through the wallpaper as "bumps."

When gypsum lath has been coated with sizing, paste and wallpaper it cannot be satisfactorily plastered later on. In fact, gypsum lath should be plastered shortly after installation, before it becomes soiled and greasy For best results, it would be wise to apply plaster now, or else take down the lath and put up a gypsum wallboard—the type that comes in large sheets—and then apply paint or wallpaper

Repainting Ceiling

Q: My ceilings are finished in a rough textured paint, and need repainting. What is the best method and kind of paint?

A: If you do not object to the rough finish, you could brush the ceilings well to remove loose dust and then paint them either with a resin-base, water - emulsion paint, or else a flat oil paint. If you wish a smooth finish, go over the surface with coarse sandpaper wrapped around a block of wood, and fill the shallow spaces that may be left with spackle. I advise you to get professional help.

Washing Wall Cloth

Q: I have put oilcloth on my kitchen walls Some is a standard wallcloth, and the rest is regular oilcloth. My problem is what kind of soap to use for cleaning it that will not fade the colors. Several kinds have been recommended to me.

A: I doubt if any good pure soap would fade the colors, although too much friction from a rough cloth might rub off some of the design depending on the quality of the cloth Be sure to rinse well after using the soap. There are good preparations on general sale intended for cleaning walls which are easy to use and give good results.

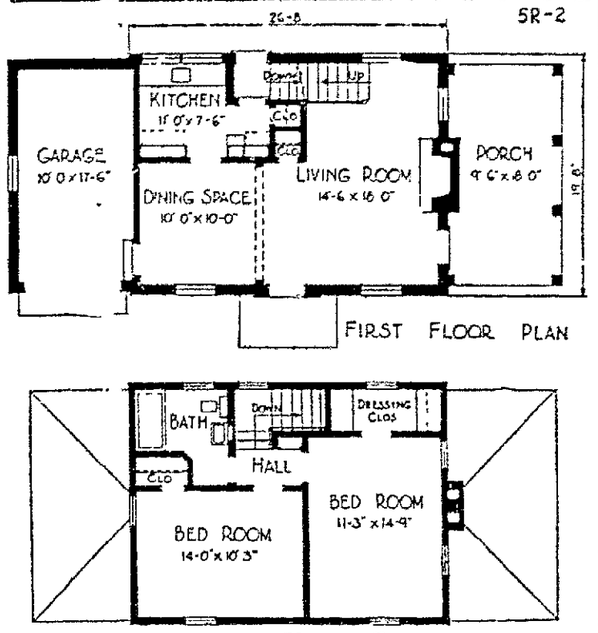
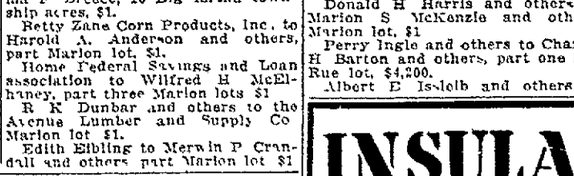
HOMES FOR AMERICANS

5R-2



FIRST FLOOR PLAN



SECOND FLOOR PLAN

By The Associated Press

A low cost two-story Colonial style house is the architect's description of this Plan 5R-2 by Elmer Gylleck, 120½ South Grove avenue, Elgin, Ill. Designed for the small family, the house has two bedrooms and bath, all of large size with spacious closets. An open plan layout creates expansive living space by combining the large living room with dining space. The house contains 16,500 cubic feet with a full basement. Suggested specifications call for a frame construction with brick veneer for the first story and wood siding above, wood or asphalt shingles and warm air or circulating hot water heat.

FIRE CHIEF ISSUES WINTER WARNINGS

By The United Press

COLUMBUS, Nov. 15—Arrival of sub-freezing temperatures brought warnings from fire officials today to double-check all possible fire hazards.

Battalion Chief Elmer J. Brophy, head of the Columbus fire department's fire prevention bureau, said winter always brought new fire hazards into the home and issued a list of "do's" and "don'ts" for preventing fires.

Chief Brophy's list included these hints:

Remove all rubbish; use only metal ash cans with tight metal lids; use only 15-ampere fuses, have furnace cleaned and checked, check smoke pipes for rust holes and the chimney in the attic; don't run extension cords under rugs or hang them on water pipes; keep matches out of children's reach; don't use matches or open flame to look in dark places or to thaw out frozen water pipes, locate the nearest fire alarm box and use it in calling the fire department before trying to extinguish the fire yourself

As a final warning, Chief Brophy said:

"Never look for a suspected gas leak with an open flame—you may find it."

VET HOME BUILDING INSPECTION STARTED

By The United Press

WASHINGTON, Nov. 15—The veterans administration today inaugurated an inspection program for homes built under GI loans to prevent veterans from being duped by unscrupulous or inefficient builders.

The program—under which the veterans administration assumes responsibility for proper construction—was decided on following complaints that homes built under veterans' loans were cracker boxes with sagging floors, wet basements, bad heating and numerous other defects.

The veterans administration reported that it now had made loans on 850,000 homes, amounting to some $5,000,000,000. Applications are coming in at a rate of 45,000 to 50,000 a month, the agnecy said.

Under the new program, appraisers will make a pre-construction estimate based on plans and specifications. This will be followed by a minimum of three interim inspections as work on a home advances.

Appraisals will be made by architects, contractors and engineers selected by the veterans administration. The cost of the appraisal will be borne by builder, lender or developer-sponsor and not by the vet. "We feel that it has been a matter of misunderstanding t of cheating," an agency spokesman said. "This way the pu will know what is expected of and the veteran will know w he may expect."

Roving Reports

By Hal Boyle

NEW YORK

MANHATTAN, always shedding the cocoon of the past, symbolizes poet Tennyson's famous line—"The old order changes, making place to new."

They no sooner put up an amazing building than someone begins to plan to tear it down and replace it with something more marvelous.

But the death of two famous old mansions—the red Vanderbilt stone palace on Fifth avenue and Charlie Schwab's stately granite plateau on Riverside drive—marks the final passing of New York's so-called "golden age."

Crashing with the blows of wrecker hammers destroying these two great edifices are the gaudy standards of the late Nineteenth century financial titans, whose fortunes were so vast that society dandy Ward McAllister coined this rule-of-thumb definition of wealth:

"A fortune of only a million is respectable poverty."

Hal Boyle

Some antics of the fabulous people of that fabulous day are recalled by Andrew Tully, former war correspondent in his book "Era of Elegance."

Mrs. William Astor—"the" Mrs. Astor—dipped into $50,000,000 to spend $2,250,000 on a renaissance palace. Guests contributed $1,000,000 in gifts at the celebrated wedding of her daughter, Carrie. But when they auctioned off the furniture of society's queen in 1909, a year after her death, the gilt chairs from her ballroom brought only $1.50 each and a huge tapestry that had dazed visitors for two generations went for $10.

HIGH-LIVING CHARLIE Schwab poured $8,000,000 of his steel profits into his 75-room, 40-bath Hudson river hideaway. He put in a $50,000 pipe organ and a refrigerator that could hold 20 tons of beef. It cost him $400,000 a year to keep up this overgrown bungalow, and Charlie, who had earned more than $1,000,000 a year died cheerful—and broke. The final tally: assets $1,389,509, liabilities $1,727,858.

Isaac Brokaw multi-millionaire clothier, insisted that his architect put a real moat around his Fifth avenue castle on the grounds that "there's more robbers in this town than all those King Louie had to put up with" in France. All that ever tumbled into the moat, however, was a runaway horse.

The original John D. Rockefeller, retiring at 56, spent between $20,000,000 and $40,000,000 on his 7,000-acre "Kijkuit" estate overlooking the Hudson. He lived for years on a diet of human milk and built a $25,000 turntable so he wouldn't have to move to keep in the sun.

Andrew Carnegie, who kept eight footmen in his $3,000,000 Scottish castle for the sole purpose of pouring wine, built a $2,000,000 cottage on upper Fifth avenue also, just to have a headquarters to give away $250,000,000 late in life.

THIS SO ENRAGED his bitter enemy, Henry Clay Frick, that Frick vowed "I'll make that place look like a miner's shack." So Frick spent $17,000,000 on his own marble palace, stocked it with $30,000,000 in art treasures and willed the whole thing as a public museum, hoping it would make his name outlast Carnegie's.

Income and inheritance taxes, the high cost of servants and other factors have led descendants to dispose of most of the motheaten grandeur huts built by the American money giants.

What is the old order yielding place to?

Well, the most dramatic change now taking place in Manhattan's ever-changing face lies in the field of community housing.

One insurance company is building a $80,000,000 project along the East river. It won't contain any European art tressures and it won't have a moat. But it will have trees, playgrounds and room for 25,000 middle-income people on land where slums sprawled before.

That is the new pattern Manhattan is growing into.

MANSFIELD HOBBYISTS ATTEND MEETING HERE

Approximately 35 members of the Buckeye Hobby club of Mansfield were guests of the Marion Hobby club at a meeting of the local club Thursday night in the Y.M.C.A. About 75 persons were present.

Guest speaker for the program was Robert Williams of Marion who talked on "Christian Symbols." He illustrated his talk with a chart which he had drawn.

Another speaker was H. M. Lawson of Marion, whose hobby is taking moving pictures of local scenes and happenings. He showed several colored films of the Marion County fair, the soap box derby and other happenings in and around Marion.

For roll call, members gave their name, address and hobby, and following the meeting, several hobby exchanges were made. A. H. Exton, president of the Marion club, presided.

Second Civic Chorus Rehearsal Sunday

Second Civic chorus rehearsal for the December presentation of "The Messiah" will be held Sunday at 3:30 p. m. in Epworth Methodist church. Prof. Rexford Keller of Ohio Wesleyan university is the director. A group of nearly 60 members of the chorus, representatives of church choirs and other music organizations of the city, were present at last Sunday's rehearsal, it was reported. The oratorio will be presented Dec. 6.

Capital Capers

By Frederick Othman

WASHINGTON

LET'S get this straight (and no snickers, please, gents): an army general pulling a fast hocuspocus with a dollar gets the old heave-ho as quickly as the buck-private caught pawning his G. I. overcoat. That's a general speaking.

No general, of course, ever has been court-martialed on charges of fraud, testified the general in charge of the air force corps. The U. S. senate's inquiry into the tangled financial affairs of still another general was a surprise to him.

F. C. Othman

I'm talking about the long-nosed, gray-haired Maj. Gen. Junius W. Jones, the air inspector, who was hauled before the senate war investigating committee to explain why he hadn't investigated charges against Maj. Gen. Bennett E Meyers.

"What charges?" demanded Gen. Jones.

Senator Homer Ferguson of Michigan, explained none too patiently that Gen. Meyers was accused of owning stocks in airplant companies to which he awarded multi-million dollar contracts. The general said he'd never heard of that, though there had been some rumors.

There were these three generals (this rank is getting a little complicated, already), see: Gen. Jones, the policeman; Gen. Meyers, the airplane buyer, and an un-named general.

So Gen. Anonymous phoned Gen. Jones that it would be a sorry day if Gen. Meyers ever got charge of the army's surplus property. The implication, said Gen. Jones, was obvious. Then, demanded Sen. Ferguson, why didn't the general investigate the charge of the second general against the third? Well sir, said general number one, number two hated number three, and probably was being malicious. So the air force police department forgot the whole business.

MY TALE OF THE senator's inquiry into what he held to be the army's tarnished brass, I fear, gets weirder as it goes along; kind of gives a taxpayer a headache.

When General Jones finished telling the senators how he provided equal justice to all, generals and privates alike, a succession of witnesses told segments of a story which, when pieced together, went like this:

Gen. Meyers' boss heard that he owned some stock in an outfit called the Aviation Electric Co., and told him to get rid of it before he embarrassed the army. Apparently he didn't.

So along came Lawrence Bell, president of the Bell Aircraft Co., looking for somebody to do some subcontracting on the electric wiring on his fighting planes. Gen. Meyers said he had some friends who owned Aviation Electric and why not give the business to them? Bell did, to the tune of $1,053,000.

ALL THIS TIME the balding Gen. Meyers, now retired and wearing a handsomely tailored gray suit and hand-painted necktie, sat in the back of the room. His wife, a one-time movie starlet who previously had testified in his behalf, was nowhere to be seen; but probably will be called again to tell about the airplane stocks her husband signed over to her.

Gen. Meyers asked the reporters, please, when the session was over, to lend him their ears. He said the senatorial inquisitors weren't being fair and that he's asked for a courtmartial—and he said he didn't mean a whitewash—to clear his name.

The proceedings involving an ever-widening assortment of generals, oddly enough, grew out of the Howard Hughes flying boat case. Hughes' name wasn't mentioned once, all day long.

UNITED PRESS

In Plain Words

By James Marlow

WASHINGTON

A man who gave his name as David A. A. Olson filed suit here this week against President Truman and congress.

He said the U. S. Constitution doesn't give the government power to use the taxpayers' money to help foreign governments.

So he wants a court order to stop the foreign aid which congress starts considering when it begins its special session Monday.

Is Olson, who says he's a Kentucky builder and engineer, right? Not a chance, say experts on taxes and the Constitution.

Simply, they point out this:

1. Under the Constitution (16th amendment) congress can make you pay income taxes. It's been doing that since 1913, when the amendment was okayed.

James Marlow

2. The tax money goes into the U. S. treasury, together with other money collected by the government, to be used when needed.

3. Congress can vote to appropriate, or spend, money for the "general welfare of the United States." (Section 8, Article I of the Constitution).

4. So congress can vote money for foreign aid if it thinks that's for the general welfare, such as by stopping Communism abroad.

5. True, the money for that aid will have to come from money in the treasury, whether it's tax money or other money the government's collected.

6. But so long as congress votes to spend it for what it considers the general welfare, that's all right.

Until the Civil war there was no income tax. Until then the government mostly paid its way by tariffs, a tax on goods shipped into this country.

BUT CONGRESS VOTED the first income law in 1861 to help pay for the war. It really got going in 1862.

Between then and 1872 the government collected $376,000,000 in income taxes. In 1872 congress wiped out income taxes as no longer necessary.

Then a fight to restore the tax started. It continued for years. Special groups and minor political parties wanted it, to hit the rich but not the poor.

After the panic of 1893 congress voted another income tax. This was in 1894, in the administration of Grover Cleveland, Democrat.

The next year, 1895, the supreme court knocked out the law by ruling it was unconstitutional.

Joseph Choate, one of the attorneys fighting the tax, said it was a step down the road to "Communism."

The supreme court ruled that a tax on income, such as from land or property, was a direct tax and therefore unconstitutional because:

SECTION 2, ARTICLE 1 of the Constitution says "direct taxes shall be apportioned (in just proportion) among the states."

Under that law of 1894 any one with income from land in any state could be forced to pay an income tax.

So, looking at Section 2, Article 1, the supreme court decided the tax was not being "apportioned" among the states and was unconstitutional.

Although that supreme court decision stood in the way, the fight to have an income tax continued.

It became clear that, if congress were to pass another income tax law, the Constitution would have to be doctored a bit.

So in 1909, in the Republican administration of President William Howard Taft, both houses of congress passed a resolution to amend the Constitution.

It took four years—until 1913—for the necessary 36 state legislatures also to approve. Then the amendment became part of the Constitution.

IN THEIR BOOK, "The Federal Income Tax," Roy G. and G. C. Blakey said there was a lot of doubt in congress, when it passed the resolution in 1909, that the necessary 36 states ever would approve.

That amendment, the 16th, said:

"The congress shall have power to lay and collect taxes on income, from whatever source derived, without apportionment among the several states, and without regard to any census of enumeration."

That fixed up the Constitution so that Section 2, Article 1, which the supreme court in 1895 said prevented an income tax law, wouldn't get in the way of another income tax law.

And in 1913 congress passed an income tax law. We've had one ever since.

OFFICIAL SEES FREE OPINION ENDANGERED

By The Associated Press

CLEVELAND, Nov. 15 — C. Girard Davidson, assistant secretary of the interior, said today some people in Washington are trying to withdraw constitutional rights "from all but those who march squarely down the middle road of conformity."

Citing the recent investigation of communism in Hollywood by the house committee on un-American affairs, Davidson declared:

"An apparent attempt is being made to eliminate from positions of influence persons who do not adopt a mid-Victorian social and economic philosophy or who do not believe that the development of our political and economic institutions reached perfection during the presidential term of Herbert Hoover."

In a speech prepared for the young Democratic national convention, Davidson added that "in order to detect and disarm a handful of subversives" in the government and elswhere there has been an attempt at "suppression of thought and opinion."

The young Democrats of the nation wound up a three-day convention today on a note of optimism for party prospects in 1948.

A crowd, estimated by police at 1,300, cheered last night as Senator McGrath of Rhode Island, chairman of the Democratic national committee, told the young Democratic clubs of America:

1. He was "dedicated" to the reelection of President Truman.

2. Local elections throughout the country last week showed a "powerful reversal" toward the Democratic party.

POSSIBLE DELAY SEEN IN PARTITION OF PALESTINE

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK, Nov. 15—Possibility arose today that the proposed partition of Palestine into sovereign Arab and Jewish countries might be delayed until Oct. 1, 1948

This situation was created as a result of Britain's declaration that British troops could not be withdrawn from the Holy Land before Aug. 1.

Under a U. S.-Soviet compromise plan for enforcement of partition, the British would terminate their mandate over Palestine by May 1 and independence of the Arab and Jewish countries would become effective July 1.

tial request to them. They commented that such a trial, if held, would not prevent prosecution of him in a civilian court if the justice department decides there is grounds.

Ferguson has read into committee records a federal statute providing up to a $2,000 fine and two years in jail for persons who act as agents of the government in transactions with firms in which they have an interest.

Return To Hughes

The committee's inquiry shifted back to Meyers' dealings with Hughes after concentrating for two days on testimony that the general concealed from the air force his wartime stock holdings in seven aircraft companies.

This phase of the investigation also produced testimony by Lawrence D. Bell, president of Bell Corp., that his firm did $1,053,000 worth of business with the Aviation Electric Co. of Dayton, O., on Meyers' recommendation.

Bell said Meyers told him the firm was owned by friends of the general but gave no indication that he himself had any financial interest in it.

But retired Maj. Gen. Oliver P Echols, who was Meyers' boss, testified that Meyers told him about 1940 that he owned stock in Aviation Electric. Echols said he directed Meyers to "get rid of the stock or not be associated with Wright Field," center of air force research at Dayton.

HOME BUILDING HIGH MARK SEEN THIS YEAR

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, Nov. 15—The bureau of labor statistics today predicted that 1947 will prove to be the best home building year since 1925. The bureau estimated that 92,000 new permanent dwellings were begun in October, even better than the phenomenal 88,000 in September, which had been hailed as the probable peak for this year. Favorable building weather was credited with the unusually high sustained building activity.

Industrial output continues at precedent - shattering peacetime levels, the Bulletin said, but the specter of inflation looms large.

To meet this threat price control again may be necessary, the Bulletin continued, but it called for any such controls to be set up on an emergency basis with a definite time limit.

In a survey of the business field, the Bulletin found that manufacturers' inventories had reached an all-time peak of 23 billion dollars at the end of August

PREVIEWS OF COMING ATTRACTIONS AT THE THEATERS

RONALD REAGAN AND SHIRLEY TEMPLE are co-stars in the drama of small-town gossip, "That Hagen Girl," which is now playing through Thursday at the Ohio theater.

Esther Williams Stars at Palace

"This Time for Keeps," a musical production photographed in technicolor with an all-star musical cast, will be shown Sunday through Tuesday at the Palace theater.

Esther Williams, the bathing beauty, heads the cast which includes Lauritz Melchoir, Jimmy Durante, Johnnie Johnston and Xavier Cugat and his orchestra.

Many of the scenes include aqua-colossal water ballets, and the tune hits include "Un Poquito de Amor," "I Love to Dance," and the film title, "This Time for Keeps."

Added attractions will include a Pete Smith specialty, "Pet Peeves," a color cartoon and news.

Billed for Wednesday and Thursday is "They won't Believe Me" with Robert Young, Susan Hayward and Jane Greer.

The story centers around a wealthy wife's struggle to buy the loyalty of her playboy husband. Robert Young as the husband becomes involved twice with other women, but each time, his wife, played by Rita Johnson, is able to break up his romances by lavish expenditures since she has the hold on the purse strings. But finally, things get beyond her control and tragedy intervenes.

A double feature, "Tarzan and the Huntress" and "The Arnelo Affair," will be shown Friday and Saturday. Heading the cast in the former are Johnny Weissmuller and Brenda Joyce, and starred in the latter are John Hodiak, George Murphy, Frances Gifford, Dean Stockwell and Eve Arden.

"The Arnelo Affair" is the drama of a woman whose innocent adventure with a ruthless gangster finally involves her in murder.

"That Hagen Girl" Playing at Ohio

"That Hagen Girl," a Ronald Reagan-Shirley Temple co-starring production, is now playing through Thursday at the Ohio theater.

Settings for the film, a drama of small-town gossip, include Shirley Temple's home in the poor section of the mid-western town, Reagan's quarters, a made-over carriage house reflecting msle tastes, the luxurious homes of two aristocrats of the community, and other small locations which add to the dramatic story.

A special short subject entitled "Minstrel Days," an entertaining story of the growth of the minstrel show, will be shown along with the feature picture.

Al Jolson and Eddie Cantor, two of the screen's great entertainers, are the standouts of the film in which such other famous minstrel men as McIntyre and Heath, Eddie Leonard, Bert Williams, George Primrose and Honey Boy Evans are presented. The short film traces the growth of the minstrel show from the original one-man black-face act to its heyday of brass bands, interlocutors, end men and specialty numbers.

For six days starting Friday, the attraction will be "Spirit of West Point."

Those who like their football with a kick will find this film has all the thrills of a real game plus the drama of lives of two great All Americans, Glenn Davis and Felix "Doc" Blanchard. The boys play their first screen roles in a film which is primarily the life story of the boys, singularly and their days together at the Point.

"The Razor's Edge" At Marion Theater

"The Razor's Edge," the film version of W. Somerset Maugham's best-seller, starring Tyrone Power, Gene Tierney, John Payne, Anne Baxter, Clifton Webb and Herbert Marshall, and "Under the Tonto Rim" with Tim Holt will be shown Sunday and Monday at the Marion theater.

The former tells a tale of a veteran of the first World war who searched over half the world to find the secret of the worthwhile in life. In the latter, Tim Holt plays a stage-line owner who goes on the warpath when robbers raid one of his coaches and kill the driver. He poses as an outlaw himself, stages a jail-break and manages to get the information needed for the sheriff to take over.

Billed as the double feature for Tuesday and Wednesday are "Moss Rose" and "Two Guys from Milwaukee."

Peggy Cummins, Victor Mature and Ethel Barrymore are the starring players in the former picture. The latter stars Dennis Morgan, Jack Carson and Joan Leslie and is the tale of a prince who gets a chance to learn about democracy in 24 hours in New York, with no one knowing his identity.

Thursday through Saturday the films will be "Stork Bites Man" with Jackie Cooper and Gene Roberts, and "Rio Grande Raiders" with Linda Stirling and Bob Steele.

The story in the former deals with an invisible stork which is assigned to watch over a prospective father, who manages and lives in an apartment house that does not allow children.

ESTHER WILLIAMS, above, heads the big all-star cast in the technicolor musical, "This Time for Keeps," Which will be shown Sunday through Tuesday at the Palace theater. Other starring players include Lauritz Melchior, Jimmy Durante, Johnnie Johnston and Xavier Cugat and his orchestra.

Carey Locker Co. Plans Additional Facilities

CAREY, Nov. 15—The Carey Cooperative Food Lockers, Inc., has completed installation of 687 lockers and only a few of these have not been rented, according to E. E. Gottfried, manager. PRESIDENTS DROP SEASON FINALE TO FREMONT, 13-7

Heavy Invaders Overcome Lead With Prexy Fumble, Long Run

By BILL DIEM

About 4,100 fans at the stadium last night saw the Harding Presidents play one of their best games of the year marred only by a costly fumble in the third period and a weakening of the Prexy machine in the final quarter that allowed Fremont Ross the top side of a 13-7 score.

At the half the Prexies led, 7-0, and the ball game was theirs.

But in the third period a 52-yard punt by Fremont's Walter Weinhardt and a fumble on the Harding three-yard line handed them the tieing score.

The pounding of the heavier Fremont line wore down the Prexies in the final quarter, and a Fremont play kept under wraps throughout the game was unloaded on the weary Presidents to send Walter Weinhardt 57 yards for the winning touchdown.

Harding Scores First

Harding moved all the way from their own 27-yard line to a touchdown the first time they got possession of the ball. Jim Coss, Clarence Smith, Jim Hill and Dick Huddle ripped through the line in a series of plays that took them to the Fremont 27.

Then Coss faded back to pass and chucked a long one to Huddle who ran over to score standing up.

The Presidents surprised again on the conversion play when Dick Gherman, back to drop kick, instead passed to Gene Peadon in the end zone for the extra point.

Fremont's Bob Beck and Tex Frey punched up to midfield after the kickoff return but Dick Gherman intercepted a pass from Dick Baron to halt the drive.

Harding center Bob Short stopped a second Fremont drive in Marion territory a few minutes later by breaking up second and third down running plays of Fremont's Bob Beck to force a punt. An exchange of punts finished the first half.

Gets Off Long Punt

In the third period Fremont drove from their own 21 to the 47, but failed to make a first down from the 41 and punted. Walter Weinhardt got off a high bounding ball that was left untouched as it dropped since it appeared to be headed for the end zone, but it stopped rolling on the one-yard line.

On the next play, the heavy Fremont line squeezed a fumble out of Jim Coss plunging through the line, and Fremont center Bob Heid recovered on the three. Weinhardt moved to the one, and Beck plunged over.

Fremont left end, Sam Sims, who reputedly can't see five feet in front of him, saw well enough to boot over the tieing conversion.

The play centered at midfield until late in the final period when Fremont started a pay-off drive from their own 25-yard line.

Fremont Moves Again

Weinhardt, Frey and Beck bulled through the weakened Prexy line to the 41 and then the Fremonters pulled the wraps off a play that has accounted for a large part of the nine-win, one-loss season record.

Weinhardt cut around right end on a fake reverse behind a cordon of interference formed by two guards and two backs and by the time he reached Harding's 35-yard line, the last Prexy safety man had been mowed down. His gallop consumed 57 yards.

Walter Bechtle ran into the game for Harding in time for the conversion attempt and blocked Sims' placement to hold Fremont to their 13-7 edge.

Bob Short Looks Good

Both centers Bob Heid of Fremont and Bob Short of Harding lived up to their advance billing as possible All-Ohio candidates.

Short, a 175 pound senior, played a stellar game as linebacker, floating to make the tackle when Fremont runners tried the line.

The entire Prexy line held up amazingly well against the heavier Rossmen, who averaged eight pounds more per man, but the extra weight told in the final period.

Bob Ralston, another All-Ohio choice of the Harding staff, plugged up the hole at left tackle despite an elbow injury incurred in scrimmage this week.

Besides tossing a 27-yard touchdown pass, Jim Coss carried the ball 16 times for 51 yards and an average 3.2 yards per try.

The Rossmen kept Clarence Smith bottled up and his longest run from scrimmage was nine yards. He carried the pigskin 16 times for 45 yards and an average 2.8 yards per attempt.

Eleven Harding seniors played their last game with the Prexies—Dick Gherman, Gene Peadon, Jim Hill, Jim Eddy, Don Ellis, Dick Huddle, Bob Ralston, Jim Coss, Bob Short, Jack Hoffman and Fred Lacey.

BOWL BIDS REST ON GAMES TODAY

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK, Nov. 15—Bowl bids and conference titles hang in the balance today as the college season nears a climax with a flurry of activity topped by the Michigan-Wisconsin collision for the Big Nine championship.

The Pennsylvania-Army game in Philadelphia may produce an eastern king, the Georgia Tech-Alabama clash at Birmingham should clarify the southern picture and the Texas-Christian-Texas and Southern Methodist-Arkansas tilts could shake up the Southwest conference ratings but it's Michigan-Wisconsin as the No. 1 game across the nation.

With seven straight wins over rugged competition, Coach Fritz Crisler's Michigan team can clinch the Big Nine crown by disposing of up-and-coming Wisconsin. The Badgers, unbeaten but tied once in conference play, need to beat both Michigan and Minnesota to earn the title which means a trip to the west coast to play in the Rose Bowl. A Michigan win would clinch it.

All seven of the "major" teams still in the perfect record class tackle rough opposition although Michigan probably faces the toughest job. The others are Notre Dame, Southern Methodist Georgia Tech, Penn, Penn State and Utah.

Notre Dame, the No. 1 club in the weekly Associated Press poll, takes on Northwestern. Third place Penn gets its big test in Army. Fourth-ranked Southern Methodist plays Arkansas.

Southern California, ranked fifth, has an off day before its title clash with U.C.L.A. but Georgia Tech is rated a surprising underdog against Alabama which has come on fast after two early season losses. Texas meets improving Texas Christian. Penn State, sailing along with seven straight wins, bumps up against Navy, which almost dumped Georgia Tech last week. California is not expected to have too much trouble with Montana on the Pacific coast. Utah gives weak Idaho a shot at its spotless record.

One of the oldest fixtures of the football scene, Yale vs. Princeton will be renewed at Princeton with the Elis a slight favorite to nip the Tigers.

Going into the final canto with a 25-18 lead the Meeker crew staved off a York rally to hang on to the lead.

JOE STEFFY

BILL HEALY

AP Newsfeatures

CHATTANOOGA, Tenn.—Football fans here wouldn't lift an eyebrow if Georgia Tech's Bill Healey and Army's Joe Steffy popped up on the All-America team together—they're used to the boys matching each other.

The two guards, captains of two of the country's stronger teams, are just continuing a parallel started a few years back when they were giving the old do-or-do for Baylor School for Boys here.

Each captained the Baylor eleven to an undefeated season in his senior year—Healey in 1941 and Steffy in 1943.

They are the only five-letter men in Baylor history. Each won an award for the "best all-around man" in his senior term.

Steffy also was captain of the wrestling and track teams—but Healey was basketball captain. Steffy earned other letters in boxing and weightlifting; Healey in swimming, track and weightlifting.

Both excelled in the shotput, the javelin and the discus.

Baylor supporters point proudly to the school's connections with other famous athletic figures.

The Army line coach, Herman Hickman, is a Baylor grad. And Bobby Jones, Alabama athletic director Frank Thomas and University of Tennessee's coach Bob Neyland have sons in the school

Girl Gridder Meets Chivalry Then Mud in Football Debut

By International News Service

AMARILLO, Tex., Nov. 15—Fifteen hundred Stinnett, Tex., football fans rubbed their eyes in amazement today.

They had seen "it."

"It" was a female football tackle playing on a male eleven against another male eleven.

"It" was Frankie Grovers, 16-year-old, 103-pounder from Stinnett High school—the apple of her team's eye.

The only trouble was that Frankie did not distract the Groom High school Tigers sufficiently enough to prevent them from winning last night's ball game, 14-6.

Frankie thought all was going well after getting into the game for five plays in the third quarter. Her opposition, 160-pounder Richard Manning was downright chivalrous and "didn't touch me."

Not so in the fourth quarter, however.

After blocking out two Groom players on one play and getting her face buried twice in the mud on the other two plays in which she figured, Frankie gloomily asserted:

"They didn't show any mercy on me that time."

NEW YORK, Nov. 15—Undefeated Penn State and once-beaten Rutgers were the leading candidates for selection to meet Toledo in that city's second annual Glass Bowl football game, Dec. 6, with Wake Forest, Virginia, New Hampshire and Boston college other possibilities.

Toledo may be a nonentity in national football, but don't get the idea that it is a pushover. The team has dropped only one game and features a hard-charging line which averages 210 and a passing combine composed of pitching Lee Pete and catching Chuck Hardy which can give anybody fits. It also has a brother tackle team of Frank and Tony Pizza.

Frank is known as "Little Pizza" because he only weighs 235. Brother Tony is "Big Pizza," maybe because he tips the beam at 265. Toledo won the inaugural game last year, 21-18, but Bates halfback Art Blanchard, picked as the outstanding individual player, will be back as the guest of honor and receives a glass plaque.

"Jersey Joe" Walcott, the venerable box fighter who has about as much chance as Gypsy Rose Lee of winning the heavyweight title when he faces Joe Louis briefly on Dec. 5, gets a bit premature in his latest bit of whistling past the graveyard.

"I'll give any worthy challenger a chance at the crown," Walcott promises. . . . That's like giving away the sleeves to his vest.

Which reminds, that Walcott's real name is Arnold Cream. He disclosed once that it originally was "Crime." . . . There must be a gag there somewhere in connection with this fight.

Everybody seems to have overlooked this fashion note, but did you know that the U. S. Ryder cuppers wore knickers? . . . That eliminates Gene Sarazen as golf's Man of Distinction.

Bulletin: from the Denison publicity department:

"Can Denison's Big Red defeat powerful Ohio Wesleyan Saturday? That is the $64 question that will mold Denison's gridiron history."

See your Sunday paper! . . .

American Bowling Congress intelligence: "Barney was all over the alleys like a romantic cat." . . . No comment. . . .

Don't think Connecticut Wesleyan is afeerd of equally-undefeated Trinity. The game is to be played today but the fearless Wesleyan publicity department sends out this story—for Monday:

"Wesleyan's football forces completed their second consecutive undefeated and untied season Saturday when the Cardinals topped Trinity (insert score) in the season's finale for both clubs." . . . Congratulations!

Barberton Rejects Peanut Bowl Bid

BIG RED TO TRY O.W.U. FOR CROWN

Denison Win Today Will Clinch Championship.

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., Nov. 15—It was just about pay-off Saturday in Ohio collegiate football circles today and the prime pay-off of them all seemed to be the Denison-Ohio Wesleyan battle at Delaware.

For Denison's rapid Reds it represented a chance to stow away both the Ohio conference and the state championships.

For the Battling Bishops of Ohio Wesleyan, it was a chance to knock off an eleven which has stormed along to seven consecutive victories—the only unbeaten-untied team in the state.

If Denison can team over the Bishops, it will be the first time in 59 years a Big Red has bagged such a season. Only an average Wittenberg outfit stands in the way after Ohio Wesleyan.

Six contests last night set the stage for today's scraps.

Findlay's Oilers wrapped up their ninth win of the season against one defeat by slapping down Mount Union, 35-19, as fullback Ed Sustersic plowed ahead of his mates with two touchdowns and direct participation in a couple of others.

Other Friday night scores: Youngstown 13, John Carroll 2, Kenyon 20, Hiram 14; Kent State 6, Akron 0; Heidelberg 9, Wooster 0; Wilberforce State 57, Philander Smith 7.

Nineteen games are carded today, including a Big Nine homecoming fray between Illinois and Ohio State in the big bowl along the Olentangy.

Other top-bracket contests today:

Unbeaten but tied Miami's invasion of Wichita, Kan., to meet the Missouri Valley league second placers; Cincinnati's clash with Western Reserve, leader in the Mid-America conference; Marshall's scrap with Xavier at Cincinnati, and Ohio University at Dayton.

Other games send Case against Baldwin Wallace, Muskingum against Oberlin, and Capital against Wittenberg, all in the Ohio conference; and Cedarville at Ashland, Rio Grande at Salem, W. Va.; Iowa State Teachers at Bowling Green, Defiance at Kalamazoo, Mich.; South Dakota State at Toledo; Manchester (Ind.) at Otterbein; Franklin (Ind.) at Wilmington, Bluffton at Ohio Northern, and Gustavus Adolphus at Steuvenville.

Fox's TKO of Lamotta Leaves Eyebrows Up

By The United Press

NEW YORK, Nov. 15 — The technical knockout which Billy Fox scored over Jake Lamotta last night left a lot of raised eyebrows in the boxing industry today.

Widespread report of a fix, which received official recognition robbed, for the time being at least, the glory which naturally should have gone to Fox for becoming the first boxer ever to knock out the tough battler from the Bronx.

There was no question of Fox's victory and the dynamite which the Philadelphia Negro packed in his fists. But there were doubting Thomases among the 18,340 persons who paid $102,528 to see the bout at Madison Square Garden, for a lot of maneuvering went on before the fighters stepped into the ring.

Early in the week there were whispers that the "fix" was on. Then late yesterday, after the odds had been 6 to 5 and pick em' the betting changed and Fox became an 11 to 5 favorite. Three hours before ring time the odds soared to 3 to 1 and bookies refused to accept any more Fox money, although they took wagers on Lamotta.

The rumors of the fix became so persistent in the Garden corridors then that chairman Eddie Eagan of the New York Boxing commission twice went to the dressing rooms of the boxers to warn them.

He was not available for comment after the fight but a spokesman of the commission said that so far as he knew the commission was satisfied with the bout. He emphasized, however, that he had not spoken to Eagan.

It wasn't the same Lamotta whose long and distinguished career had made a scourge of the middleweights so long, who faced Fox last night. Despairing of hope to get a shot at the middleweight crown because the 160-pounders want no part of him, Lamotta took on Fox in the hope that it might lead to a battle with Gus Lesnevich for the light heavyweight crown.

Billy Southworth Feted At Kenton Elks Annual Banquet

Special to The Star

KENTON, Nov. 15—"Onio's Own Billy" Southworth, the Boston Braves' $50,000-a-year manager, came back last night to the town where he got his start in baseball to receive, for the sixth successive year, the plaudits of his friends of yesteryear and their best wishes for future success.

Four hundred of Southworth's friends, both old and new, gathered last evening for a roast turkey dinner at the Kenton Elks hall.

Annually since the fall of 1942, the Kenton Elks lodge has sponsored a testimonial dinner in Southworth's honor, hailing his success in some years, snaring his sorrow in the years of defeat.

Actually, however, this was the seventh Southworth banquet. The first was in 1926 when as a member of the World Series Champion St. Louis Cardinals "Billy" first reached the top rung on the ladder of fame.

In 1942, the dinner honored "Billy" when he returned as manager of the Cardinals with another Series championship, having defeated the New York Yankees that memorable season.

In 1943, the Cards won the pennant but lost the series to the Yanks. In 1944 the Cards took another series from the Browns. In 1945, the Cards finished second in the league. In 1945, "Billy" went to the Braves as manager and finished fourth in the league. This year, the Braves ended third in the league, and "Billy" was signed to a five-year contract at 50-grand per annum and he becomes baseball's highest-paid manager.

Started With Kenton Reds

It was as a member of the former renowned "Kenton Reds," back in 1911, that Billy first got baseball in his blood. He was with the Reds for just that one year. During that time a talent scout picked him up and Billy entered "pro" ball—going to Portsmouth the next year in the Ohio State league.

He wanted to be a catcher, and he was a catcher during his year with the Kenton Reds. But after that, he proved to be too good an outfielder—and there he stayed during his long baseball career.

From Portsmouth he went to Toledo in the American association. Then to Cleveland in the American league. Then two years with Portland, Ore., in the Pacific Coast league. Then to Birmingham in the Southern league; to the Pittsburgh Pirates and then to the Boston Braves. Then to the New York Giants (1925), and the next year to the Cardinals. The next year he went to Rochester as manager, and during four years he won two pennants there. Then he went to Columbus as manager of the Redbirds, after which he was out of baseball for two years. But the lure of the game was too great and Branch Rickey signed him as manager at Ashville, N. C. in the Piedmont league. Then he managed Memphis in the Southern league, then Rochester again, and in mid-season, 1940, he went to the Cardinals as manager. With a record like that, you'd think Billy was nearing the end of his career. But anyone who knows Billy, knows he has "just begun."

Other Greats There

Around the banquet tables last evening sat many of baseball's great and near-great. Among them were many of the game's great figures of yesterday.

For instance there was "Cy" Young, whom many regard as the "greatest pitcher of all time." Young, who once pitched for Cleveland and the Boston Americans, won more than 500 games in big-league baseball—more than any other pitcher in history. He was the first player to win a place in Baseball's Hall of Fame at Cooperstown, N. Y. "Cy" is a young man of 80 today. He lives at Peoli, O.

Another famous "old-timer" here to pat Southworth on the back and recall great games of the past was Jess Haines. Cardinal team-mate of Billy when the Cards won that famous 1926 Series. Haines was the first and greatest "knuckle-ball" pitcher in baseball.

Master of ceremonies Friday evening was Frank Schindewolf, Kenton undertaker, who assured "Billy" that "I'm not ready for you yet."

CLARIDON CAGERS LOSE TO MAGNETIC SPRINGS

Claridon High cagers lost a see-saw battle to Magnetic Springs last night on the Union county floor, 35-34. Coach DeMora's lads held a 19 to 16 lead at half time and tied the score in the final quarter, but the work of Disbennett, lanky forward of Magnetic who dumped in 18 points, was too much to overcome.

Dale Irey led Claridon with 12 points. The Claridon reserves triumphed over the Magnetic seconds, 15-10.

ILLINOIS 20-POINT FAVORITE OVER O.S.U.

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., Nov. 15—Illinois' Western conference and Rose Bowl champions ruled a 20-point favorite today over Ohio's hapless Buckeyes as they met before a crowd of about 70,000 in a Big Nine fray.

Rainy weather, which made the Buckeye field slippery, was expected to hamper the fleet-footed Illini and their ace passer, Perry Moss, more than it would handicap the not-too-versatile Bucks, bringing a bit closer the prospect of an upset.

However, Ohio's chances were practically nil as Coach Wesley Fesler, embroiled in the most dismal season the Bucks have experienced since 1924, announced a flock of his top talent would not play at all, or would be slowed down, by an epidemic of injuries.

Sidelined by "ouches" of various kinds were Joe Whisler the line-crashing fullback; Pete Perini, the punting quarterback; halfback Alex Verdova, tackle Chuck Fazio and end Curly Morrison.

Snatches of Sports

By HUGH FULLERTON, JR.

NEW YORK, Nov. 15—Maybe this is just starting another of those rumors the Ivy league has been asked to squelch, but does anyone really believe that no athlete at those respected institutions of learning ever gets financial aid outside his own family? . . . It seems hard to believe, though this writer can state only two certain facts on the subject: (1) That not one of the numerous requests for contributions received in 20 years as a Princeton alumnus ever has carried the faintest suggestion of a "slush fund." And (2) that a friend in the coaching fraternity has said repeatedly that all the Ivy colleges, including the one at which he served briefly, are "hypocritical" on the subject of aid to athletes . . .

New York Stock Quotations

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK, Nov. 15 — The stock market held to an indifferent drift today with scattered leaders a shade ahead while trading issues did nothing or slipped a trifle.

Both professionals and broker-age customers generally inclined to stand aside pending next week's special congressional session when decisions regarding European relief and anti-inflation steps may be taken.

The ticker tape loafed from the start and mild irregularity prevailed near the final hour.

Pacific Western Oil and Mission Corp. exhibited isolated strength as merger hopes persisted. Minor advances were recorded for Chrysler, Montgomery Ward, Sears Roebuck, Boeing, Electric Power & Light, General Electric, Northern Pacific, Texas Co. and Standard Oil (NJ). Occasional stumblers were Graham-Paige, Goodrich, Consolidated Edison (at a 1947 low), Cerro De House and Deep Rock Oil

Chandler Sets Penalty In School Player Rule

By The Associated Press

CINCINNATI, Nov. 14 — Baseball Commissioner A. B. Chandler announced today a one-year suspension from the sport will be imposed on any one who negotiates with a high school player in violation of the rule.

In an announcement sent to all major and minor league clubs, Chandler said:

"Any club official or employe conducting any such negotiations who does not establish that he did not know, and by exercising reasonable care and diligence could not have known of such interference with such player's eligibility shall be ineligibilized for one year."

Chandler also instructed club officials to re-read the rule, which prohibits negotiations with a boy as long as he is in high school.

Leslie O'Connor, general manager of the Chicago White Sox, and the club were suspended by Commissioner Chandler several weeks ago for failing to pay a $500 fine for signing a high school player. The fine was paid later after the American league upheld Chandler and both O'Connor and the club were restored to good standing.

Film Featuring Klan Barred by Ohio Board

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., Nov. 14—State Education Director Clyde Hissong reported yesterday that the state censor board had refused to permit Ohio theaters to show a new movie, "The Burning Cross," purporting to deal with activities of the Ku Klux Klan.

The board decision is subject to confirmation by himself, but the director said he had not yet formed an opinion.

He said the film, produced by the Sumerset Pictures Corp. of Hollywood, told a story of a returned war veteran in a southern town who is persuaded to join the Klan. It includes tar-and-feather and shooting episodes, he said.

A distinct Korean civilization flourished at least 3,000 years ago.
